Goal Is Passed In Salvation Army Drive For Funds

DONATIONS TODAY ALONE TOTAL $102

Light Receipts in Kettles
Make It Necessary to Increase Budget

By KENNETH ADAMS
THE REGISTER'S part in the Salvation Army Christmas Basket Fun went over with a bang today when contributions amounting to $102.92 brought the total up to $541.17, above the figure for last year, when The Register raised $534.

Don't think for a minute that this is all that is needed, however, for the contributions made through the Salvation Army kettles for some reason are lagging $150 behind the contributions at this time last year.

It is fervently hoped that donations which come to the Salvation Army and to The Register tomorrow—the last day contributions can be received—will more than make up for the shortage in the kettle fund. Let's all unite to put this program over! Only one more day to go, so let's make the contributions on this last day outstanding! Bring your check or cash to the Salvation Army headquarters at 214 North Sycamore street right now!

You see, the funds obtained through the kettles on downtown streets and the money given through The Register, are put together in one fund to buy supplies for 400 or more Christmas baskets, filled with 21 items of food to make a complete Christmas dinner or dessert for families, thereby averting the possibility of there being gloom and despair in Santa Ana homes instead of happiness at Christmas time.

So, with the kettle funds lagging, it's up to those who have not given anything for this great humanitarian project to do their part to banish grief of parents and children should there not be any Christmas dinner. It takes only a little from each one. Every donation helps, no matter what the amount. Don't fail these mothers and fathers and eager-eyed children who are dependent on your generosity. Share your happiness with them. Spread cheer and the spirit of brotherly love. Fulfill the real spirit of Christmas. Know the joy of giving to someone that really deserves your help.

SCHALL DEATH CAR DRIVER ARRAIGNED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—While funeral arrangements were made today for Sen. Thomas D. Schall, the driver of the automobile which fatally injured him was ordered arraigned on a manslaughter charge.

Lester G. Humphries of Hyattsville, Md., was ordered arraigned today before Justice of the Peace Herbert Moffatt in Hyattsville on the manslaughter charge issued on order of States Attorney Alan Bowie.

Schall was crossing a highway near his home in Berwyn Heights, Md., on the arm of a friend when he was struck.

FAULTY BRAKES BLAMED TODAY FOR 14 DEATHS

HOPEWELL, Va., Dec. 23.—Faulty brakes were blamed tentatively today for a bus accident that took 14 lives.

A huge bus that dived through an open drawbridge was lifted from the Appomattox river last night and all bodies were taken to local morgues, where three still were unidentified and seven had been but partly identified.

Among the dead was L. G. Alford, Raleigh, N. C., the driver. Authorities believed he was the only person who knew what caused the machine to plunge through a wooden guard gate of a drawbridge near here and over the open draw into the river.

Lacy McNair, the drawbridge tender, heard the Greyhound bus' brakes scream. He heard it crash through the guard rail and turned in time to see it plunge into the river. The bridge pavement was marked for 20 feet with burnt rubber from its tires, indicating, authorities said, that Alford had slammed on the emergency brake after the foot brake failed to slow the machine.

The identified dead were:

Alford.

Mrs. Wilbur Massey, 36, Hopewell.

John Belch, Hopewell river boat captain.

Mrs. Ruby Matthews, 38, Richmond.

Tentatively identified from baggage:

Miss Ruth Goodwin, New York.

Elma Parkman, New York.

Mrs. L. H. Fairfax, Superior, Wis.

Flora Edna Moccoco, Superior.

Mrs. J. J. Cizler, Clarendon, Va.

A Miss Duncan, Pittsburgh, N. C.

A Negro woman named Fisher, of New York.

The bodies of a Negro woman, a white woman, and a young man were unidentified.

The bus was pulled out of the river and placed on a barge beneath the bridge by cranes last night. They worked in the glare of arc lights.

SPEED UP VETERAN FARM, HOME LOANS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 23.—A sweeping change in policy to permit speeding up of loans to veterans for the purpose of obtaining homes and farms was announced today by Chairman Thomas Foley of the State Veterans' Welfare board.

Under the new program the board expects to release funds at the rate of about a million dollars monthly for the next two years, Foley said. Features of the changed policy include:

District officers of the board at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Fresno and San Diego are empowered to negotiate all loan details without dealing through Sacramento, thereby slashing the time required in handling loans from 40 to 15 days. Twenty-year loans will continue to pay 5 per cent interest, but those for 15 years were cut to 4 per cent, and 10-year loans were dropped to 3 per cent.

GIANT CHINA CLIPPER IS FORCED BACK

Pan American Plane Returns to Alameda After Running Into Storm

ALAMEDA AIRPORT, ALA-MEDA, Cal., Dec. 23.—A severe mid-ocean storm, much heavier and wider than ordinary, drove Pan American Airways' giant China Clipper ship back to its Alameda base today after the big craft had flown approximately one-third the distance to Honolulu.

Pan American officials announced that the China Clipper, laden with approximately a ton of airmail and the first consignment of air express ever to be dispatched across the Pacific, had flown 700 miles westward before turning back.

The Clipper hopped from San Francisco bay at 3:15 p.m. yesterday.

When the ship took off, Capt. Edwin C. Musick, commander of the $1,250,000 Martin flying boat, noted strong disturbances to the north of the Clipper's flight lane on his weather chart.

As the journey progressed, Musick and his crew encountered strong headwinds, which gradually increased as they got farther to sea.

Finally, the storm smashed directly into their path and Musick decided the safest policy would be to return. It was announced.

The Clipper roared in over San Francisco and landed at Alameda at 5:50 a.m.

Family Flees America After Receiving Threats Against Son

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh fled from America with his wife and three-year-old son, Jon, on the liner American Importer at 2:53 a. m. Sunday, to establish a new home in England where he hopes to live quietly and assure his son the normal childhood that has been denied him in the United States.

They sailed secretly from New York, having bought the exclusive passenger occupancy of the combination passenger and cargo vessel, which is due in England the last of the month.

Threats against the life of Jon and the excitement attending the approaching execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted kidnaper.

HAUPTMANN IN FINAL PLEA TO PARDONS COURT

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 23.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann filed a petition for clemency with the Court of Pardons today. This is the last court of appeal for the convicted Lindbergh baby kidnaper.

Hauptmann signed the petition this morning and turned it over to Col. Mark Kimberling, keeper of the state prison, Colonel Kimberling, in turn, had it taken to the clerk of the Court of Pardons.

The plea represented practically the last chance for the former German carpenter.

He is under sentence to die the week of January 13.

Gov. Harold G. Hoffman will be notified of the filing and will set the meeting of the court.

He has indicated the meeting would be after Christmas and before New Year's.

The court is composed of the

DENY ATTACK ON PRISON PHYSICIAN

FOLSOM PRISON, Cal., Dec. 23.—Reports that Earl Kimball, Sierra mine slayer, had attempted to take the life of a prison physician were discontinued today by Warden Court Smith.

The warden said he presumed the report referred to an incident which occurred shortly after Kimball arrived here September 30.

Kimball had been given the routine physical examination by Dr. P. W. Day, the warden said, and was being returned to his cell when he said to the guards: "It was all I could do to keep my hands off that little so-and-so and choke him to death."

FLAYS TOWNSEND PLAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Rep. Maury Maverick, D. Texas, today denounced the Townsend old age pension plan as one which would "destroy the financial system of the country and ruin the cause of pensions or social legislation forever."

Maverick said he favored "sound social security, old age pension, unemployment insurance and industrial accident insurance," but considered the Townsend plan a "brazen, unconscionable and hopeless demand on poor people."

SITE FOR CITY PARK OFFERED TO COUNCIL FOR LOW FIGURE

THE CITY of Santa Ana has been offered an opportunity to purchase a 20-acre site said to be ideal for park purposes, situated at northwest corner of Flower and Washington, The Register learned today.

Owned by Blanche and Bertha Tiede, the property has been offered to the city at a price less than $30,000, although Los Angeles real estate operators, who contemplate subdividing the land have offered the owners more than the price set for the city, it was reliably reported.

The matter of whether or not the city is interested in securing the property for a park site, where the proposed Armory for Santa Ana also might be located, may come up at the meeting of the city council tonight.

EDEN NAMED AS FOREIGN SECRETARY

Italy Interprets Appointment as Desire of War By Great Britain

ROME, Dec. 23.—Italians learned today that Timothy Eden, regarded as Premier Benito Mussolini's arch enemy had been named foreign secretary of Great Britain. They told each other that Britain had taken off the mask at last, and wanted war.

They expressed the opinion also that if Eden—as they expect him to attempt—succeeds in obtaining application of an oil embargo against Italy, it will mean war.

Mussolini's first reply to the appointment, regarded as an open challenge, was expected to be reinforcement of the army in Libya and a new effort to speed up the military campaign against Ethiopia.

Only a few days ago Mussolini was awaiting the proper moment to accept French-British proposals as a basis for peaceful negotiation of the Italian-Ethiopian dispute.

Ready to Listen

During the weekend he informed Sir George Clerk, British ambassador, that he was ready to listen to any new peace proposals and he instructed Vittorio Cerutti, his ambassador at Paris, to tell Premier Laval the same thing.

Then came the news of Eden's appointment—a man whom Mussolini is known to dislike, and who is believed here to dislike Mussolini extremely. Any British move of even a mediatory character would be suspected now as a scheme of Eden's to hurt Mussolini.

Most Italians did not learn of Eden's appointment until the afternoon papers appeared today, as there are customarily no morning newspapers on Monday.

Danger of War

At once public opinion solidified into the belief that (1) Eden

SPECIAL GLASS FOR QUINTS' HOSPITAL

CALLANDER, Ont., Dec. 23.—The growing tendency of the Dionne quintuplets to hurl their blocks, or anything else at hand, through the windows of the Dafoe hospital has resulted in Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe deciding to have shatter proof glass installed, he told the United Press today.

The special glass will be put in while the babies sleep on the hospital verandahs, Dr. Dafoe said the work would be done soon after Christmas.

For some time boards have been placed over the windows to protect the panes from the assaults of the quintuplets, but the danger of cuts from falling glass, together with the increased difficulty of keeping the hospital warm during the winter if unlooked-for ventilation is supplied by the babies' activities, resulted in the decision, Dr. Dafoe said.

LIQUOR CONTROL OFFICERS FIRED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23.—Robert H. Brown, administrator, and 12 others of the Los Angeles county liquor control office, were ousted in a new shake-up today.

The dismissals were predicted following the appointment of Ray Edgar of El Centro to succeed Orfa Jean Shontz as Southern California member of the state board of equalization.

A telegram from Secretary Bixwell L. Pierce of the board said the ousters were "due to unsatisfactory service during the probation period."

FRIEND OF THELMA TODD FLIES EAST

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 23.—Patsy Kelly, screen comedienne, has no theories about the strange death of her good friend, Thelma Todd, she said when she arrived today after a transcontinental flight from Hollywood.

"I don't know what caused her death and please, oh, please, don't ask me anything more about it," she said.

She came East to spend the holidays at the Bronx home of her father and sister and will return to Hollywood by plane next Sunday.

COAL CONTROL BETHLEHEM IS ACT DECISION SADDENED BY EXPECTED SOON THREAT OF WAR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The supreme court today added the Gayley Coal Control Act to the roster of New Deal cases awaiting its early determination and then took a two-weeks holiday recess.

The court expected to return from its Christmas vacation with a pack laden with decisions on constitutionality of New Deal acts to be rendered January 6.

The validity of the AAA and its amendments, the TVA and the Bankhead Cotton Control Act are among the issues to which the nine justices will devote themselves while the rest of the nation is celebrating the holiday season.

Within 15 minutes at noon today, the court met, disposed of several cases it has had under advisement, and left the courtroom.

The court acted on the joint request of the government and attorneys for J. Walter Carter, head of the Carter Coal company and one of its principal stockholders.

The court's action today will enable it to provide an unprecedented early test of the law constitutionality.

The court presented decisions in two cases in which John W. Davis, 1924 Democratic presidential candidate and presently American Liberty league attorney, appeared as counsel.

In one case the court blocked efforts of the federal government to bring Halsey, Stuart and company, Wall Street banking house, and others to trial on charges of mail frauds growing out of the sale of securities of the Wardman Realty and Construction company.

Davis had represented the bankers.

The Radio Corporation of America, however, another Davis client, was forced to go back to the Boston federal courts to stand trial in a Sherman anti-trust act law suit brought against it by the Ray-

COAL CONTROL BETHLEHEM IS ACT DECISION SADDENED BY EXPECTED SOON THREAT OF WAR

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 23.—In this holy city where Christ was born nearly 2000 years ago armed police strode the narrow streets today as war spread its pall over a usually joyous Christmas scene.

Extra police were posted throughout Bethlehem, which gave to the world its prayer of "Peace on earth, good will toward men," to prevent rioting over the Italian-Ethiopian conflict when the Holy Night is observed tomorrow.

On the eve of the festival at the spacious church of the Nativity, where a sacred cradle rests on the spot where Christ is believed to have been born in a stable manger, there was unaccustomed tension.

There have been rumors for several days in the bazaars and native coffee houses of brewing trouble between the large Ethiopian population and the Italian pilgrims. The authorities, recalling the racial brawls that were frequent before the World war, decided on more police.

Tourists Present

In years past this little town on the hill has been crammed with Christian visitors from all parts of the world but Bethlehem was strangely quiet today.

There were 150 American tourists here and at Jerusalem for the Christmas celebration. Tourist agency managers said the number was the smallest since the World war.

The Jerusalem Y.M.C.A. has arranged its yearly Christmas service and supper for shepherds in a field two miles from here. This year, for the first time, a military regiment and band stationed at Jerusalem will participate.

Several weeks ago word came that, owing to warlike conditions in the Mediterranean, numerous Christmas cruises to Palestine had been cancelled. It was like a thunderbolt to the people of Bethlehem who are dependent upon this trade for their livelihood.

PRESIDENT ORDERS CLOSING DOWN OF NRA ON JANUARY 1

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—President Roosevelt today signed an executive order terminating the national recovery administration on January 1 and shifting some of its remaining employees to the departments of commerce and labor.

The end of NRA was a simple and colorless affair in contrast to the beginning and peak of one of the New Deal's greatest experiments.

Clerks going to the commerce department, comprising the division of review, the division of business cooperation and the advisory council will hold their jobs until April 1, when the NRA expires.

The consumers division which goes to the labor department, however, will last until June 30, 1937, because it was set up under the emergency appropriation act.

OVER SCORE CALLED AS WITNESSES

Margaret Lindsay, Star of Films, First Person to Be Questioned

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23.—Margaret Lindsay, beautiful brunette film star, was the first witness called before the Los Angeles county grand jury today as it opened an investigation into the mysterious death of Thelma Todd, blonde screen beauty.

Miss Lindsay led a parade of more than a score of Hollywood film figures summoned to testify, as the grand jury sought a possible murder motive in Miss Todd's death by carbon-monoxide eight days ago.

She was escorted by Miss Todd's ex-husband, dashing Pasquale (Pat) Di Cicco, to a party at the Trocadero cafe on the night that the blond comedienne danced there the last time.

Miss Lindsay and Di Cicco were in a different party at the gay night club from the one Miss Todd attended supposedly a few hours before her death. She was being questioned, however, in the hope she might have heard some remark that is significant in the case. Di Cicco is being recalled from New York to testify.

While Miss Lindsay testified, in the ante room just off the grand jury chambers sat Jewel Carmen, in whose garage Miss Todd was found dead just one week ago today. Miss Carmen is the wife of Roland West, Miss Todd's husband.

SAVE 11 MEN FROM BLAZING TUNA BOAT

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 23.—The United Fruit company's boat, Antigua, will put into San Pedro tomorrow afternoon with 11 men aboard who were rescued from a burning tuna boat, her master wireless to officials of the Van Camp Seafood company today.

The master of the Antigua radioed that a safe transfer of the men had been effected from the British tanker El Mirio, which rescued the men while the Van Camp boat Vasco da Gama lay burning off Cape San Lucas late Saturday.

Capt. Walter Robertson, of San Diego, was skipper of the Vasco da Gama. He carried a crew of 10 Japanese. The Vasco da Gama was built here in 1929, 85 feet long of wood construction.

LAVAL STRENGTHENS POLITICAL POSITION

PARIS, Dec. 23.—Premier Pierre Laval has vastly improved his political position and forestalled immediate danger of defeat, reliable informants said today.

Edouard Herriot, his chief cabinet aide, who resigned the presidency of the radical Socialist party because of criticism of Laval's foreign policy, was understood to have reassured Laval of his loyal support.

3 AUTOS, 2 BICYCLES REPORTED STOLEN

Three automobiles and two bicycles were reported stolen over the weekend, one of the cars being recovered a short time later, police reports show. One car had only been "misplaced."

A car belonging to Gordon D. and Cora M. Nelson, of 611 West Fifth street, was stolen Saturday evening at that address. Nelson reported, but was located a short time later by the owners.

Merle Davenport, 1108 West Fifth street, called upon the police to go to his home and awaken his parents shortly after midnight Saturday, when he was stranded in Long Beach. His car was stolen, he said. His parents were asked to go to Long Beach to escort Davenport back to Santa Ana.

Ernie H. Goodale, 936 West First street, reported his car was taken from its parking place in front of a pool hall on Broadway, between Third and Fourth streets, but when city police went to assist in apprehending the thief, they found the car parked on West Third between Broadway and Birch. Goodale said he had forgotten where he parked the car.

A bicycle belonging to Frank Valdez, 1221 East Third street, was stolen from his home Saturday night, he reported and W. G. Reams, 831 East Third street, reported a similar theft of his bicycle about the same time Saturday.

FOOTBALL CLAIMS ANOTHER VICTIM

MARTINEZ, Cal., Dec. 23.—The waning football season registered another victim today with the death of Sam San Felipe, 25, San Francisco from injuries received in a sand lot game.

An autopsy showed San Felipe died from ruptures of brain arteries suffered when he fell or was knocked down while playing on a Martinez lot yesterday.

An employee of a San Francisco cake company, San Felipe came to Martinez yesterday to visit his parents and joined friends in an impromptu game on a vacant lot. After the injury he was taken to a local hospital where he died last night.

Service Station Man Held Up By Masked Bandit

A masked Mexican bandit, wearing a black handkerchief over his face, held up Harry Carlson, employee of the Charlie Newson service station, Hazel and Central avenues, La Habra, and relieved him of $3 late last night as Carlson was leaving the station.

The Mexican politely removed the $3 from Carlson's pocketbook, returning the purse to its owner. The Mexican, according to Newson, demanded that Carlson open the service station office but Carlson did not have the necessary keys, he told the man, who then disappeared on foot. Quick appearance of Chief of Police Collins of the La Habra police department at the scene failed to locate the bandit who, apparently, escaped through a nearby orange grove.

A majority vote is required to grant leniency and the governor must vote with the majority. A majority can deny clemency even though the governor votes for it.

If the court turns down the petition, Hauptmann's only remaining hope is to ask for a new trial. Not even his attorneys expect such a move would be successful.

His time of life might, however, be extended by the governor who has power to grant three 30-day reprieves.

Hauptmann was not told of the departure of the Lindberghs for Europe.

SEEK MYSTERY MAN IN KIDNAPING CASE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—Government agents investigating the kidnaping of Caleb J. Milne, 4th, 23, are seeking to identify the mysterious "Dr. Greene" in the case, it was learned today.

Young Milne, now in his mother's home at Woodstock, N. Y., recovering from mistreatment by the abductors, told officials he was lured from his apartment in New York by a "Dr. Green," who informed him that his grandfather, Caleb J. Milne, Jr., was seriously ill in Philadelphia.

Government operatives indicated that "Dr. Greene of Gracie Square" may have been a real physician.

Driver Halts For Train To Pass; Goes to Sleep

Thomas A. Dugdale, 1061 West Third street, really picked an unusual place to park at 3:50 a.m. Sunday, when City Police Officers L. H. Nicholson and W. B. Moreland found him asleep in his car in the middle of East Fourth street, "waiting for a train."

Dugdale when awakened by the officers, explained he was "very sleepy," and when he stopped to let a train go by the crossing of the Santa Fe railroad tracks, he just "dozed off."

Persons in the neighborhood derided Dugdale had been parked at the crossing for "at least a half hour." Officers advised Dugdale to "go along home and sleep as long as you want to there."

CHINA CLIPPER IS FORCED TO RETURN HOME

Resumption of the flight hinges upon cessation of the storm. Clarence Kennedy, Airways official, announced.

"The incident emphasizes Pan American's policy of 'safety first,'" Kennedy said. "Capt. Musick, forewarned of the storm to the north of his course, encountered it in midocean. It was much more severe and covered a wider area than any which he previously had bucked."

Musick Praised
"Consequently, he decided to turn back even though the ship was in perfect mechanical condition and was flying flawlessly," Kennedy praised Musick for returning.

"They were 700 miles at sea," he explained. "That's not much short of the half-way mark—1200 miles. Many pilots, having flown that far, would have gone on and taken a chance on racing the storm in over the last half of the course."

"But Capt. Musick wouldn't do it. His decision was in line with Pan American's policy of leaving nothing to chance and flying only under conditions of absolute safety."

The China Clipper originally had been scheduled to depart Friday, but the take-off was moved to yesterday afternoon when a last-minute rush of Christmas mail and air express made the lay-over seem advisable to line officials and postal authorities.

While the big craft was flying westward, its sister ship, the Philippine Clipper landed at Wake island on a flight from Guam early today.

Its departure from Manila from Guam, Wake, Midway and Honolulu, the line's midocean air stations, had been delayed for several days by a tropical typhoon raging in its path.

In addition, the court awarded victory to the state of Texas in its dispute with the Texas and Pacific railway over a 620-mile strip of land through the rich oil fields of Ector county, Texas.

In an opinion which may have an ultimate effect on enforcement of the Johnson act, passed to speed utility rate case suits, the court upheld the action of a federal district court in Oklahoma in enjoining the enforcement of new gas rates on a local company.

CLAIM COOPERATION IN LIQUOR CONTROL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 23.—Liquor control in nearly every county in California is handled on a cooperative basis by local authorities and state liquor enforcement officers, according to Richard E. Collins, chairman, and Fred E. Stewart, Oakland member of the board of equalization.

Contrary to complaints of local enforcement officials in some quarters, the board has cooperated closely in most instances and has in turn received every assistance from police, the controlling members of the board declared.

Observance Of Parking Law Asked by Chief

In a general appeal to the automobile driving public, Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard today called upon all Christmas shoppers to give the police department cooperation in the matter of parking rule obedience in downtown Santa Ana.

"We do not wish to work a hardship on anyone," Chief Howard said, "but, because of the heavy business activities downtown during this season, we must insist that the parking rules be obeyed. If those who wish to park downtown will merely watch the time-limit signs, it will benefit them as well as everyone else."

murder of their first son, impelled their decision to leave America, a close friend of the family said today.

May Never Return
They may never return to this country, although the Colonel does not intend to give up his American citizenship.

The American Importer was scheduled to sail at midnight Saturday but was held up almost three hours for the Lindberghs. Officials of the United States lines refused to deny or affirm the Lindberghs were aboard but the United Press learned from other sources that they were.

Col. Lindbergh is determined that his son shall have the opportunity to grow up normally. In the United States there hung over the household the ever-present fear that Jon might meet the same fate as the Lindberghs' first born, Charles Augustus, Jr.

That fear was kept alive by a new wave of threatening letters and a recent incident in which an automobile taking Jon and his nurse home from school was forced to the curb by another machine, whose occupants took quick pictures of Jon and then fled.

Leave Secretly
The new glare of publicity on the Lindbergh case with Hauptmann's approaching execution and public discussion of the case by Gov. Harold Hoffman of New Jersey and others also contributed to the Lindberghs' decision to make a new home in England.

United States and British government officials as well as steamship operators cooperated with Lindbergh in keeping their departure secret until today.

Only a few closest members of the family saw them off on the comparatively small ship, which sailed from a Hudson river pier early Sunday morning. Other members of the family knew the Lindberghs were going abroad, but thought it was only a visit and not to live indefinitely.

ness partner, who also was to be questioned.

Miss Lindsay was before the grand jury scarcely 15 minutes. She refused to talk with reporters as she hurried away.

Sid Grauman, Hollywood theater man, followed her. He was also a Trocadero guest, and at 1:55 a. m., at Miss Todd's request, telephoned her sidewalk cafe assuring her she would be home soon.

Grauman likewise refused to discuss his testimony, when he emerged from the grand jury room.

The jury ignored a request from Miss Carmen to be heard early because she was ill. Deputy District Attorney U. U. Blalock announced that the Trocadero waiters and bartenders would be next witnesses.

Among these, three were important figures in the case.

Alex House, headwaiter, reported receiving threats, warned him against testifying.

John Linden and Peter Imfeld who served the party, knew what Miss Todd ate. They said it was peas, string beans, filet mignon, salad, turtle soup and olives. This tallied with the autopsy surgeon's analysis of the contents of the actress' stomach. It was on the basis of the quantity of food in her stomach that the time of Miss Todd's death was placed at some time Sunday morning.

Mystery Man
Another "mystery man" bobbed into the case today. He dialed a telephone number for the actress in a downtown Los Angeles cigar store at about 9 a. m., Sunday, December 15, a witness told the jury today. This witness would be at least three hours after an autopsy indicated Miss Todd was dead, poisoned by carbon-monoxide fumes from her automobile.

Investigators were ordered to hunt for the man.

W. F. Persson, operator of the cigar store, told the grand jury that earlier he saw a woman, whom he positively identified as Miss Todd, enter his store at about 9 a. m. on that Sunday.

She stared at him with a "dazed, fixed look" and asked him to dial a telephone number for her. He did so, and his recollection was that it was "7771." He could not remember the exchange.

A minute later Miss Todd approached a customer entering the store and asked him to dial a number for her. It is this man, the grand jurors hope, who might remember the number she called.

Foreman George Rochester immediately ordered a "John Doe" subpoena issued for him.

Persson related that two customers entering his store told of seeing Miss Todd sitting on a heavy-set man. This man, they said, held her fur coat while she went to the store to telephone.

From another customer, he learned that after telephoning, the woman rejoined her companion, and the two walked off.

BETHLEHEM IS SADDENED BY THREAT OF WAR

Among the large ships cancelling their Palestine cruises were the Canadian-Pacific's "Empress of Australia" and "Empress of Britain," together with the Nord Deutscher liner "Columbus."

Recently it was announced that a large group of Coptic Christians from Egypt, expected to arrive by the Suez canal route, had decided to remain at home and send their money to the Ethiopian government for its war against the Italians.

Nevertheless there will be a large group of Copts at the Church of the Nativity tomorrow for numerous Ethiopian priests, in white holiday skull caps and robes and carrying the inseparable black umbrellas, will journey from Jerusalem in a motor caravan.

In the great, high-arched church of the Ethiopians in Jerusalem the Christmas services will be a long prayer for peace. Added to the threats of trouble between the Ethiopians and the Italians is a smouldering strife within the Greek orthodox church whose priests are gathering here in large numbers.

The Arab orthodox laity and parish priests are strongly opposed to the green prelates who dominate them and their hatred has been shown strongly by the legal steps taken in the high court in Jerusalem to annul the recent election of the new green patriarch.

In Bethlehem tomorrow night will gather not the usual stream of sightseers but the true, devoted believers whose prayers for peace and good will is to be pealed forth upon the bells of the Church of the Nativity.

Examinations To Be Held for S. A. Postmaster Job

Competitive examination for filling the office of Postmaster in Santa Ana has been announced by Frank Cannon, secretary of the board of United States Civil Service examiners here.

Cannon said today that he will receive applications for the examination until January 14. Any one interested in taking the examination are advised to contact Cannon at the postoffice.

Candidates for the post are not required to report for the examination, according to Cannon but candidates will be rated on their education, training, business experience and fitness.

Frank Harwood, endorsed for the office by the Orange County Democratic Central Committee, is holding the office at present, having been appointed to fill the vacancy created through the resignation of T. E. Stephenson when he accepted the post of county treasurer.

The new term is scheduled to start January 26. To date Harwood is the only candidate for the examination.

EDEN IS NAMED FOREIGN CHIEF FOR BRITISH

is the leader of the most extreme British group favoring strong penalties against Italy; (2) hence his appointment can mean only extension of league penalties and an increasing danger of war.

They looked to Mussolini to reinforce his Libyan army and probably to make war preparations elsewhere along the Mediterranean.

Foreign as well as Italian circles agreed that the appointment greatly increased the possibility of a spread of the Italian-Ethiopian war to the continent of Europe. Those who believe Mussolini would regard further league penalties as a hostile act—and most foreign observers do believe it—suggest Eden's appointment has made a new crisis certain.

It is believed generally that Mussolini would carry the nation to a suicidal conflict rather than sue for peace in face of increased British opposition, or rather than retire from office. Eden may be able to stop the Italian-Ethiopian war by league action, Italians say, but only at the cost of war in the Mediterranean and perhaps in Europe.

FIVE ACTIONS AGAINST STATE ARE DISMISSED

Five of seven injunction suits brought against state officials by oil companies objecting to enforcement of pro-rates on oil and gas production were dismissed by stipulation of plaintiff and defendants in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court today, while in the two others, the Ambassador Petroleum company and the Wilshire Oil company stipulated postponement of hearings to February 3.

The hearings were scheduled today, to require Carl R. Sturzenacher, of the state divisions of lands, and other defendants, to show cause why they should not be restrained from enforcing the pro-rate.

Dismissal was entered in the suits brought by the Beloit corporation, the Windsor Oil company, the Fortuna Petroleum company, the Petrol corporation, and the Venton Oil company.

The Wilshire suit involved 12 wells, the Ambassador suit but one. The companies claim the major oil companies control the pro-rate commission and are seeking to stifle their smaller competitors.

CHECK-UP ON TRUCKS ENDED BY OFFICERS

Twenty-one officers of the California Patrol today completed a week-long check throughout Orange county on trucks and truck equipment operating over county highways.

According to Officer Floyd Yoder, in charge of the check, 150 trucks were checked on and approximately 100 "warning" tickets given drivers. Fifteen drivers were cited to appear in court to answer charges of operating with faulty brakes, improper lighting, etc., a recent new law requiring all trucks to be equipped with four green clearance lights instead of two and to carry warning devices to be set 200 feet in front of and behind trucks when the vehicles are stalled along the highways.

The check on trucks was operative 24 hours per day, for the entire week. The officers were aided by the state railroad commission and highway department, Yoder said.

BARR LUMBER PAYS CHRISTMAS BONUSES

Resuming the policy of paying salary and wage bonuses to employees, the Barr Lumber company, distributed more than $2500 to 72 employees of the company at the annual Christmas dinner given employees and their wives Saturday night at the Women's clubhouse in Whittier with the Whittier branch of the company serving as the host group.

For many years the Barr Lumber company distributed bonuses to their employees, basing them on a percentage of earned salaries. During the depression it was necessary to discontinue the practice. Resumption this year was indicative of improved business conditions, according to officials of the company. The bonus this year was in the nature of an extra pay check each employee receiving the equivalent of one pay check.

The program presented during the dinner was informal, including readings by Prof. Eugene Knox, formerly of Whittier College.

AR SCARE NO. 1
So inner surprise was felt at vice word that tension was increasing in Outer Mongolia and t border incidents were likely.

e answer to it is that the clash is a Communist stronghold at

The Japanese have been trying thout much success. They al-

WASHINGTON

ANTASY
Dr. F. E. Townsend confesses privately that his scheme for fi-ancing $200-a-month old age ensioners founders on the facts.
is confided his doubts in a heart-
-heart talk with a senator who ympathizes with the generous lea—he is 70-odd himself—but sands to be shown.

Taking the boom year of 1929,
he senator pointed out that 71
er cent of the wage earners received less than $2500 a year, which was not princely pay in few of prevailing high prices. It rarely provided necessities for large families. Under the Townsend transaction tax he estimates that every worker in this class would have to contribute at least $200 a year, possibly more.

Inflated prices would deplete the net return even further. If he began to say at 35, he would have paid $12,000 before becoming eligible for the benefits. If he died before 65, he would have lost hard cash.

The senator concluded that the heaviest burden would fall on the young and low-paid. "All right," replied the acquiescent doctor, "you figure out a way to make it work."
Though noted for his lively imagination, the statesman modestly declined.

GRAFT
New Deal spending has had a peculiar psychological effect on the public attitude toward graft.
It has distorted jurists' perspectives and made it almost impossible to convict local officials charged with slippery fingers in handling federal funds.

The disclosure popped out at a conference between federal prosecutors and agents and their superiors at the capital. It was the epidemic of acquittals which led to the round-robin exchange of views. The field forces reported that in almost every instance the defense advances the theory that with so much money being thrown around, it didn't matter much if a few greenbacks stuck to somebody's fingers. Though argued subtly and suggestively, the defense contention has been: "What of it?"

Another explanation of not-guilty verdicts seems to be growing resentment against federal domination and interference. The local boys' counsel rarely fails to refer in biting tones to "outside" lawyers and "outside" investigators.

COSTLY
You have to be politics for more than your health to understand the Democrats' growing at the $50-a-plate, money-raising dinner scheduled for next month.

As they held the reins of power for almost three years, it has handed out almost $3,000,000,000 in contracts, in relief in grants to states cities corporations individuals. It has placed hundreds of thousands on the payroll. It should have laid up treasure in the politicians' heaven namely the party treasury. Instead it hasn't enough money to discharge the 1932 debt or to pay clerks' salaries at headquarters. It is "broke" in the midst of political plenty.

In searching for the reason, they really subject the administration to a test of its policies and personalities. They blame F. D. R.
for his persistent feud with big business. They blame the class-warfare speeches of men like Tugwell, Hopkins, Ickes and the President himself. They blame the numerous income tax investigations, the surveillance of contractors, the official view that every wealthy man is a suspicious character. That's the reaction of the average congressman as he squints at the dinner invitation—and the price!

NEW YORK
By James McMullen
G. O. P.
A New York Republican leader who attended the big G. O. P. confab in Washington last week reports prevailing private sentiment among the party chiefs present as follows:

They are confident they can carry all of New England without a struggle. They also count
New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Ohio as pretty safe.
They figure they should get New York, Maryland, West Virginia,
Michigan and Idaho with comparatively little trouble—assuming a reasonably attractive candidate and a reasonably intense campaign. The states add up to 231 electoral votes and it takes 266 to elect. So they have to find 35 more if the above forecast is realized. The general feeling was that it would pay to concentrate the heaviest fire on Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Virginia and California. Some of the committeemen talked for publication about cracking the solid South but off-the-record opinion rated this as a pure pipe dream (except perhaps for Virginia).

There was a good deal of private conversation about the need to nominate someone who will satisfy Borah. Practically no one was disposed to consider the Idaho senator serious as a candidate—but nearly everyone agreed that his active approval of the nominee is an essential to success.
The New Yorker rates Vandenberg's chances highly—says he is the first choice of few but the second choice of a large number of leaders from all over the country.

RADICAL
New York banking circles are all aglow about the Philadelphia Federal Reserve situation. They get wind of a prospective change in personnel that would be very depressing from the right wing standpoint.

The present governor of the Philadelphia Reserve Bank is G. W. Norris (not to be confused with the Nebraska senator).
Mr. Norris is a conservative and on two or three occasions has been tactless enough to criticize New Deal policies in public or semi-public speeches. Insiders understand he has been tipped off that his services will no longer be required after March 1.

Reports from reliable sources indicate that his probable successor will be Dr. Luther Harrington, present Pennsylvania state banking superintendent. Dr. Harrington has decidedly unorthodox views about money and credit and is privately characterized in high financial quarters as a "dangerous radical." Some bankers go so far as to remark that they might as well name Father Coughlin and be done with it.

The Register.

Editor, The Register:
I have just seen one of the new 1935 quarter dollars with a bust of Washington on it.

As I have always understood the law passed by Congress in the 1790's, when Washington was president, stated that all silver and gold coins should have 13 stars and an emblem of the Goddess of Liberty on them, the emblem to prevent a ruler of the United States having his head on our money as is done in nearly all other nations.

If that law is still in force the new coins are illegal, and I don't think it ever has been repealed.
Yours,
F. A. M.

Editor, Register:
Inasmuch as I am an American citizen, both by birth and ancestry, also a Daughter of the American Revolution, a Colonial associated with other patriotic or-dams of New York, and have been organizations; I could not help but feel indignation last Saturday evening, while at the Broadway theater, when I stood alone during the playing of our National Anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner."

I was attending that interesting picture, wherein our two English speaking nations, decide to tunnel
the Atlantic; and after the blast,
when the tunnel is opened, "God
Save the King" and "The Star
Spangled Banner" are both played.
Of course I was on my feet at once and to my surprise, I stood alone. As I stood alone during the playing of our National Anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner."

In no foreign country would you be allowed to sit, during the playing of its national anthem; and if you are inclined to do so; would promptly be reminded by some official, as to your duty.

Are we losing our patriotism, or even worse, are we indifferent?
How long will we remember what America day stands for, when we cannot respect our own national anthem. Do we know, it is named in honor to our Flag?

I speak to you as an American citizen; let us not be ashamed to rise, wherever and whenever we hear "The Star Spangled Banner," and let us show our Young America, that it is not only their duty to rise but far more, it is their privilege to be able to claim the Stars and Stripes as their protection.

An article on "The Star Spangled Banner" appeared in The Examiner Sunday December 22; it ended with "Let us put some fervor into our faith." I echo, —Sara Johnston Haddon.

as to remark that they might as well name Father Coughlin and be
done with it.

MARSTON AND DART WINNERS IN CONTEST

Bry Marston and Lowell Dart were the winners of the two first prizes offered in the Register
"Cash for Christmas" contest announced today. The contest opened Nov. 1 and closed
Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Marston won the $50 first prize offered carriers in the city division and Dart won a like amount offered as first prize in the suburban division. Second prize of $25 for city carriers went to Fred Hampton and Darrell Wilson won second for suburban carriers. They received their cash today.

To win first place among city carriers Marston won a total of 258,000 points and Dart totaled 275,000 points to head the suburban division. Hampton piled up 161,000 points to take second place among city carriers and Wilson had 181,000 in the other section.

Each year the Register sponsors a contest among the carriers with the winners dividing $300 in addition to commissions earned during the competition. This year, according to Roscoe Conklin, circulation manager, the competition was unusually keen.

Points in the contest are based upon the number of new subscribers turned in by the contestants, collections and other service.
There is no chance for the contestants to lose as they receive their earned commissions in addition to any cash prizes they win.

Final standings with the names of all contestants, the amount of cash won, and their total points are published elsewhere in The Register.

birthday. Gifts were presented Mrs. McIntosh by the group of 30 served by the self-invited guests.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein
TO TUSITALA,
TELLER OF TALES

INLAND from the charming port of Apia, on Upolu Island in Western Samoa, stands a modest home that is now the headquarters of the governor.

Here was the home of Robert Louis Stevenson, famous novelist and poet, where he sought health and solitude in the early nineties.
"Vallima," Five Waters, he called the place, and Vallima it has remained. When he died in 1894, the Samoaans, who worshiped him, built
"The Road of Loving Hearts," a steep path through the woods and up the incline of Vaea Hill, where they took his body for burial. And on the summit, surrounded by dense forests is Stevenson's tomb.

Recently Great Britain issued for Western Samoa a series of beautiful stamps, picturing natives and scenes that induced Stevenson to stay there with his wife and son for the final years of his life. The stamp shown here illustrates "Vallima," his home, and the mountain, where his tomb rests.

ENGLEMAN WINS CONTEST FOR MODEL PLANES

A model airplane owned by Tom Engleman won first prize by staying aloft one minute and 46 seconds in a contest staged yesterday at the Martin Airport, sponsored by the Monarch Model Aircraft shop of Santa Ana.

The contest was the first of many planned. Entries were given three trials and the best time was taken for the contest. Models used were powered by rubber bands and had a wing span of from 24 to 40 inches.

Second prize was won by Ray Baxter, whose plane stayed up one minute and 21 seconds. Third place was taken by Tommy Dresser with a time of one minute and 13 seconds.

In the near future it is planned to have Reginald Denny, well known World War ace and moving picture actor, bring a gasoline powered model to the Martin Airport. The gasoline powered model has a wing spread of 72 inches and will fly at a speed of 55 miles an hour.

MRS. SARAH ALFORD CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Sarah C. Alford, 72, 721 Kilson drive, passed away yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ella A. Masters, at Monrovia, where she had been for the past seven weeks. Mrs. Alford had been a resident of Santa Ana for the past 10 years and she took a prominent part in affairs of the Pioneer club of the Woman's relief Corps, and Shiloh Circle No. 21, of the Ladies of the G. A. R. Funeral services are to be held in Santa Ana and details are to be announced later by W. B. Temple, funeral director of Monrovia.

Driver In Quandry On Getting Permit To Operate Auto

Somewhere between the state of fret and the state of worry, Ralph Hill, 20, of Route 1, Box 300, Anaheim, appeared in the office of Judge Kenneth E. Morrison today to find out just how he stood with "the law" following his arrest by State Highway Patrol Officer Ray Bradfield for driving without either a muffler on his car or an operator's license in his pocket.

Dressed in cowboy garb from head to foot, Hill appeared to explain that "the reason I haven't got a driver's license is 'cause Pa won't give his consent and I'm not 21 till come February."

"It's okay by Ma if I drive, but Pa won't hear to it," Hill said. "Mebbe if I buy him a beer, he might give in," he was quoted as explaining.

After looking over the complaint against Hill, Judge Morrison advised him that the fine would be $10 unless the muffler were fixed. But when it is fixed, Hill will not be able to drive until February unless "Pa" weakens. What to do? Hill decided to get the muffler fixed and trust to luck in getting his father's permission to obtain the driver's license.

Christian Science

"Every house is builded by some man; but he that built all things is God." These words from the epistle to the Hebrews constituted the Golden Text in the lesson-sermon First Church of Christ, Scientist. The subject of the lesson-sermon was "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?"

A verse from Isaiah stated, "Lift up your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, that bringeth out their host by number; he calleth them all by names by the greatness of his might, for that he is strong in power; not one faileth." Another verse cited the declaration of the Revelator, "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power; for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created."

One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, said: "God creates and governs the universe, including man. The universe is filled with spiritual ideas, which He evolves, and they are obedient to the mind that makes them."

BACK HOME

Charles R. Grow, below, district manager at the Anaheim office of Sunset Oil Company, has just returned from the annual sales meeting of the company in Los Angeles.

ANAHEIM, Dec. 23.—Plans for continued development of the Sunset Oil company during 1936 were discussed at a recent sales meeting held in Los Angeles, according to Charles R. Grow, district manager at Anaheim. Grow has just returned from the conference which was followed by a social gathering at the Breakfast club in Riverside.

Employees from every department of the company attended the conference which was devoted to planning continuance of the enlarged sales program. Grow said that the company has completed plans for the recently organized lubricating oil and grease department.

Court Notes

Mrs. Hattie Dell Blybach, of Fullerton, has petitioned Superior court for letters of administration over the $2500 estate left by her husband, the late Louis Blybach, who died December 3. The heirs include the widow and two daughters, Dorothy Blybach and Mabel V. Kiker, all of 510 South Highland avenue, Fullerton.

Letters of administration over the estate of the late Mary Miller, who died November 19, were asked today in a Superior court petition filed by her son, H. J. Miller. The estate consists of a house and lot at Riverdale, Fresno county. The husband, Fred Miller, and three children, are heirs.

Cancellation of a lease on property in Newbert Protection district, and $2000 damages, were asked today in a Superior court suit brought by Bessie S. McKenzie and her husband, John T. McKenzie, owners of the property, and Gus and Thelma Harri, the tenants. The plaintiffs charge the defendants failed to keep their agreement to take proper care of the orange trees on the leased property.

CANNERY CLOSES

BUENA PARK, Dec. 23.—The Buena Park tomato cannery, under the management of Angelo Glorioso, has closed for the season to reopen in the spring after a run of 11,000 tons of fresh tomatoes. The Uddo Taormina corporation, trade name of the organization, has given employment to 39 to 50 men during the season. The produce, less a two per cent consumption in the Los Angeles vicinity, is shipped from San Pedro to the eastern coast.

Expect Decision Soon In Action Concerning Estate

A decision in the $18,000 suit brought by Robert Todd Brownfield against the estate of the late Otto S. Lewis, of Santa Ana, because the former trustee of the estate, Reeves Aylmore, was alleged to have substituted worthless bonds for the original security given for a loan from Brownfield, is expected within the next fortnight, as a result of argument just concluded before Judge B. F. Warner, of San Bernardino.

Judge Warner took the case under advisement and stated that he probably would announce his decision within 10 days.

The suit, filed against E. T. McFadden, present trustee who replaced Aylmore several years ago, after shortages were discovered in the estate accounts, was brought through H. J. Brownfield, as guardian of the plaintiff, whose case was argued before the court by Attorneys J. B. Tucker and Sharpless Walker. Attorney Stanley Reinhaus appeared for the Lewis trustee.

Brownfield alleges that the loan to the estate originally was secured by a $60,000 contract covering a Long Beach apartment house, but that Aylmore switched security, substituting bonds of the Vista Irrigation district, which failed to protect the loan.

Political Rumblings

By PAUL VISSMAN

Regularly scheduled for the second Monday of the month, which next month will be January 13, the Orange County Democratic Central Committee will move its next meeting date up to January 8.

The switch was made at the request of Postmaster James A. Farley who requested all Democratic clubs and central committees to meet on that date for observation of Jackson Day. Because of the nature of the meeting, according to City Judge John Mitchell, chairman of the Orange county committee, postmasterhood will not be considered. It will just be a friendly, inspirational meeting.

In February, however, the postmasterhood at Anaheim will be taken under consideration. The time is getting short in which the committee can make recommendations for a successor to Postmaster Whitaker, Republican, of that city.

Several months ago the list of candidates for the job looked like the Anaheim city directory but at present the field has narrowed down to approximately three serious contenders and one or two who "would be receptive" if the committee feels that way.

The three serious contenders for the post are: Louis Hoskins, citrus rancher; George Reid, secretary of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce and Howard E. Haines, automobile salesman. H. E. W. Barnes, furniture dealer, is said to have the list of tentative candidates who "are considering throwing their hats in the ring."

Hoskins is considered to be the most outstanding contender for the post because of his asserted friendship with Hamilton H. Cotton, San Clemente and Los Angeles financier and chief Democratic "tail twister" in California.

Reid, because of his long and useful career in Anaheim as secretary of that city's chamber of commerce and because of his life-long connection with the Democratic party, also is considered a serious contender for the office. He may be handicapped, however, on the question of age.

Haines, popular in business and fraternal circles in the Mother Colony, also has more than an outside chance for the committee's approval. It is a fact that several influential business men are anxious that his candidacy be given serious consideration. It is also understood that several members of the committee are willing to extend this serious consideration.

While it is realized that "Ham" Cotton will have a lot to say relative to any appointments made from this county it has also been demonstrated that he has no intention of flying in the face of the committee and, in all probability, will approve any recommendation made by the committee. Also it is not considered likely that the committee will return evil for good and nominate anyone who does not bear the Cotton stamp of approval.

In denying that he will resign as speaker of the assembly before the end of his present term Ted Craig, long considered the heir apparent to the toga of Sen. Nelson T. Edwards, made a significant remark.

He said "right now my greatest interest lies in the election of delegates to the Republican convention in Cleveland." Ted refused, however, to elaborate on that statement other than "I am watching that very closely at present."

Could it be possible Ted is interested?

The avowed intention of Senator Edwards not to be a candidate for re-election leaves the door wide open for the politically ambitious of the county. When Senator Edwards first announced his intention to retire from politics it was a foregone conclusion that Assemblyman Craig would be the most logical successor.

Then came the rumor that Craig had been offered a position by a large public utility group and would resign his assembly post immediately. Craig denied this but he did not say that he planned to seek reelection for his own position or be a candidate for state senator.

The next logical choice, if Craig does not choose to run, would be James B. Utt, assemblyman from the Seventy-Fourth district. It is understood that Jimmy would be favorable to the plan and that there is some talk that he definitely will be a candidate.

With the logical contenders disposed of there are others who might be considered, if only by themselves, as possible successors to Senator Edwards.

Take for instance N. E. West, supervisor from the Fifth district. Political observers in the county are firm in their belief that the "Laguna Beach Tornado" is out after something. To prove their contention they point to his actions as a member of the board of supervisors, all of which resulted in publicity for West, as straws indicating which way the wind blows. They claim that no man would continually fly in the face of the hurricane, as does West, unless he does it as a "build up" for something. But then politicians are suspicious devils.

The main difficulty, political observers are emphasizing is their effort to determine just what world West hopes to conquer next. At one time he was pegged as ambitious to oppose Sam Collins for Congress. At this time it seems that that rumor is "out." Those same observers, always on the job, now say that every indication is that J. F. Burke, former publisher of The Register, is casting a long eye toward Washington and that West will not oppose the man who played Aaron to his Moses and held up his hands in every effort to lead his children out of the wilderness of alleged political skullduggery during his term as supervisor.

They claim that West is looking to the north and plans to enter the race for Senator Edwards' toga. They also allege that the same Edwards toga might prove to be slightly oversize for the "Stormy Petrel of Laguna."

E. R. HOLLISTER AND GLENDALE GIRL MARRIED

ORANGE, Dec. 23.—One of the highlights of the Christmas season was the wedding Saturday of Miss Edith Palutzke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Palutzke, of Glendale, and Ezra R. Hollister, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hollister, of Orange.

The wedding took place at the bride's home, which was transformed into a small chapel for the occasion, with silver Christmas trees, holly and baby breath used to lend a holiday air. Dr. R. B. McAulay officiated.

The bride was attired in white satin, her brunette beauty enhanced by the train-length veil caught with point lace and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias. Attending her were Miss Elizabeth Houston as maid of honor in pink crepe and bouquet of pink sweet peas, and Miss Anita Halverson in wine velvet with orchid sweet peas.

Newton Johnson, of Eagle Rock, served Mr. Hollister as best man, while the usher was William Palutzke, brother of the bride. Miss Charlotte Hollister, sister of the bridegroom, played throughout the ceremony, her program including the traditional wedding marches. Miss Kathryn Kelly sang "Still We Die Night," "Sunshine of Your Smile," "Because of a Rain." An informal reception followed the ceremony, with 50 guests present. Receiving with the young couple were the bride's mother in fuchsia velvet and Mrs. Hollister in blue crepe, both wore corsages of gardenias.

The young people whose romance began in Occidental college when they graduated in 1931, will make their home in Dana Point following a honeymoon trip through the California mountains. Mr. Hollister is a teacher in the San Juan Capistrano Union High school.

HOLLYWOOD HAPPENINGS

By PAUL HARRISON, Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23.—Little enough is left of the egotistical, profane Hollywood of gilded legend. And so it is nice to wander, ankle-deep in plush, through the hyper-magnificent, ultra-modern super-palace where the movie stars come to be made up to look like movie stars.

It bolsters one's confidence in the utter goofiness of cinemania to look upon a $600,000 pile of chromium, crystal, and stone dedicated to the proposition that beauty is only makeup deep. It gives one assurance that the complexions of our celluloid goddesses are in competent guardianship when there are revealed, row upon row, shining little laboratories occupied by white-coated, brisk scientists peering into microscopes and wagging their sterilized beards.

Each one, you feel sure, must be on the threshold of some sensational discovery—perhaps a powder that would stick on the perspiring brow of Lawrence Tibbett.

Sensitive Rabbits
There is the biological laboratory. The biological laboratory contains, at this writing, nine white rabbits contentedly dozing in sterile wire hutches. The skin of the nether side of a rabbit is, if you will believe the doctors, the most sensitive epidermis to be found on any living thing. More sensitive than the cheeks of Shirley Temple.

Of course, this is sheer presumption on the part of the doctors, who never have actually worked on Shirley Temple in their biological laboratory.

Anyway, there are the rabbits, each with a carefully shaved abdomen to which are applied newly developed cosmetics. If a makeup preparation doesn't irritate the abdomen of a white rabbit, the experimenters are pretty sure it will be all right for the jowls of Wallace Beery.

Not until you have watched a bachelor of science grimly patting rouge on the bare belly of an albino bunny can you appreciate the etiological fervor of the cosmetician.

Most Important Factor
All these wonders are part of the establishment of Mr. Max Factor, No. 1 makeup man of the screen. He came to this country from Russia 26 years ago, thumbed his way west, and resumed his trade of wig-making.

Soon he noticed that flicker makeup of that day was, at best, grotesque. Thought he could improve it, and did; since then he has monopolized the field. From the era of Pearl White, Anita Stewart, and Mary Miles Minter, he has supervised the beautification of virtually every woman star. And most of the men.

By now, Factor has become very rich, and spends most of his time fussing over the roses on his Beverly Hills estate. His four sons largely have taken over the business.

They were the ones who brought physicians, dermatologists, chemists, and biologists into the plant, and were responsible for the elegant new building and its adjoining factory.

House of Magic

Another of their ideas was a series of consultation rooms, each decorated to harmonize with some particular shade of client—brunet, red-head, platinum and so on. After client and adviser have talked things over, the latter pushes a button and one whole wall of the room glides away, revealing a dressing table, or console, complete with beauty preparations, hot and cold running water and all kinds of lights.

By pushing more buttons, the alcove is flooded with sunlight, studio light, restaurant light, drawing room light, night club light, or moonlight. These days, a gal has to be ready for anything.

Unusual Jobs

Some lesser-known studio trades: glue, cooks, molders, casters, grainers, carvers, platers, glazers, and marble-izers. All play important roles in the workshops. Making new things look old is quite a business in Hollywood, all in the name of realism. Salt water accounts for a quick coating of rust. Buildings may be carefully constructed a little out of plumb to make them lean.

The most expensive kind of paint is a special one that, when dry, peels and looks aged. Sills are worn down with abrasives and flooring is warped by applying, alternately, dampness and heat. Nice fresh wallpaper is mellowed with a blowtorch.

Troubles are heaped on directors, and they grow gray overnight.

Says Mate Refused To Care for Baby; Requests Divorce

She didn't have suitable clothes, because her husband wouldn't provide them, so she couldn't join the P. E. O. He wouldn't stay home and mind the baby, so she was forced to withdraw from the American Legion auxiliary. These and other alleged circumstances caused Nell Archer, of Santa Ana, to sue Lester W. Archer for divorce.

Her suit has just been filed in superior court, charging cruelty. The Archers married in Oakland, July 27, 1922, and separated August 29, 1935.

Makes Final Appeal To Aid Christmas Basket Fund

ARMY OFFICIAL USES RADIO TO INCREASE FUND

Making a final appeal for residents of Santa Ana to help less fortunate families and children at Christmas time by contributing to Salvation Army - Register Christmas Basket Fund which will be used to purchase supplies for 400 Christmas baskets, Capt. C. W. Gallipio of the Salvation Army spoke over KREG Saturday.

In order to make Christmas happy these unfortunate families which are in destitute circumstances and to provide funds for a big Christmas tree celebration for 500 children who otherwise would not know the joy of the holiday, the Salvation Army leader appealed to Santa Anans to drop some change in the kettles or send a contribution to the Salvation Army headquarters. His talk followed:

"Did you ever stop to realize what a wonderful time Christmas is? Why, this old world couldn't get along without Christmas, because it's a time we think of others. Why, some of us have friends we almost forget about until Christmas rolls around and we begin to wonder who we're going to send our cards to and give remembrances, and doesn't it just do our hearts good to get a sweet little card from someone you have almost forgotten, wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year? You're happy because someone is interested in you—you remembered you — it even makes you love them a little better doesn't it—strengthens your friendship.

To Aid 400 Families

"Do you know that's the way these 400 poor families that receive Christmas baskets through the Salvation Army are going to feel this year. They're going to feel that even if they are poor, have had misfortune and sickness that someone is interested in them, someone remembered them, and they'll forget their pain long enough to remember that someone loves them. It will make their hearts happy and that's why we call this the 'Christmas Cheer Fund.' It spreads cheer to those who would otherwise be forgotten on Christmas day. Would you like to add to the Salvation Army Christmas cheer fund and bring blessings to others?

"One man whose family received a Christmas basket last year came into my office and put $2.00 on my desk and said, 'Last year I was down and out, I was sick and it seemed the whole world had turned against me. I never dreamed of Christmas, really I was about ready to give up hope of ever getting well. But do you know when you came with that basket we were so tickled to get it, the whole family brought it in and unpacked it, one thing at a time, right on my bed.

So Happy He Cried

"I was so happy I cried, the Mrs. cried, too, and while the kiddies were carrying the things into the kitchen, I said to my wife, 'There's real religion, someone's remembered us, and we vowed right there that if I ever got well and able to work that we'd help fill the kettles for someone else. Well thank God I did get well and have been working for the past four months, and while I haven't made much, we've set aside 50 cents a month for the Salvation Army Christmas Fund and there it is. Make someone else happy.'

"Now wasn't that a lovely spirit for that man to have. Just like Christmas! Willing to give, ready to think of others. You know, there's a touch of the Divine in Christmas. Human nature, that is greedy and selfish, at this Holy season is willing to give and think of others. It's just the spirit of Christmas. God gave to the world at Christmas the richest, sweetest gift possible. He gave the Saviour to mankind. Have you remembered to give to Him this season?

Need More Money

"Our Christmas kettles funds are coming in slow. They are less than they were last year on this same day, and it is predicted that unless more is given in these last few days before Christmas, there won't be enough to fill the baskets for the poor. What a disappointment that will mean, and yet this is the only way we have of financing the 400 baskets of food or the poor kiddies' Christmas tree or the Shelter Christmas dinner for homeless men. All these funds must be raised at this time.

"This year as last the Salvation Army has maintained a central confidential clearing house free to the entire city. Clubs, lodges, churches and individuals who are giving Christmas baskets are bringing their names in to be cleared thus assuring that they do not all give to the same ones while an equally worthy family is left out.

Woman Aids Fund

"One lady came in last night to say 'I really didn't realize the tremendous amount of good you do at Christmas until last year, a poor family living in our neighborhood received one of your baskets. It was so well filled and it was such a worthy case and they were all made so happy that I was happy too just to see them, and I have wanted to come in for the past few weeks and leave my check but I have not been able

AT REGISTER-BROADWAY BENEFIT SHOW

A small part of the crowd of more than 1500 children who jammed the Broadway theater Saturday to attend the Broadway-Register Christmas benefit show, is shown in the picture at the top as the children clamored for admittance. The bottom picture shows the stack of food and toys, valued at more than $1000, which was distributed in 93 baskets to poor families by the P.T.A. Fresh fruit and vegetables for the baskets were furnished by Job's Daughters and the De Moly. Next to Santa Claus in the picture is Mrs. John Mills, president of the Santa Ana P.T.A. Council. All other women in the picture are presidents of P.T.A. units. Left to right in the rear are Mrs. E. H. Elsner, of the high school; Manager Lester J. Fountain, of the Broadway; Mrs. Fred Thompson, Wilson school; Mrs. Richard Luers, Lowell; Mrs. Charles Briscoe, Roosevelt and Mrs. James Hird, Franklin. Employees of the theater, including projectionists and ushers, furnished their work without charge.

TO BROADCAST LAST PROGRAMS ON CHRISTMAS

Five more programs in the series of 35 titled "Santa Ana's Christmas Music" remain to be broadcast from KREG and audibly in the streets of Santa Ana, it was announced today by Carl Stein, of Vanderma's, chairman of the Christmas music committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

"This concluding group of programs will offer a wealth of beautiful music and expressions of the spirit of the season," he said.

Tonight at 6 o'clock, a string trio under the direction of Vladimir Lenski, including Charlotte Stafford, John Stout and Mr. Lenski, will play a group of characteristic numbers including Schubert's "Ave Maria," "The Holy City" and other selections.

Christmas Melodies

At 7:15 o'clock tonight, a group of Christmas melodies will be played by the Elwood Bear Violin Ensemble of 13 violinists, including Elaine Owens, Marjorie Keeler, Eleanor Burkett, Maurine Johnston, Virginia Wilbus, Mary Toyada, Lois Wieman, Merlon Hicks, Robert Haven, Marvin Ashford, Robert Livingston, Carl Lemons, Bronley Krook and David Creighthead, accompanist.

Tomorrow, at 12 noon, the second of two playlets based upon the Christmas theme will be presented. Titled "The Fourth Wise Man," it will be given by Arthur Will Casey, author; Agnes Brady, Kenneth Stowell and Harry Layton of the Casey Dramatic Company of Santa Ana, manager by Fritz Lee. With the story taking place in the time of the old Roman period, it will bring a message that will be remembered for a long time by all who listen.

From 6:15 until 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening, the Elks Double Quartet will sing songs of the season.

Keep Base Of Christmas Tree In Water

When Christmas trees are set up the base should be kept in water as a means of keeping it fresh and green, according to the state division of forestry.

"If the base of a Christmas tree is trimmed with a sharp knife just before it is mounted, the pores will be left open, allowing water to rise in the stem to the living cells which still are trying to provide the tree with food and moisture," a division bulletin said.

Officials said that spruce and fir retain their needles longer than most other Christmas trees.

COUNTY G. O. P. WILL ORGANIZE ASSEMBLY HERE

Organization of the Orange County Republican Assembly will be perfected at a meeting in James Cafe Friday noon, January 3, according to E. M. Sundquist, temporary chairman of the local organization.

Application for a charter affiliating with the California Republican Assembly, was made at the meeting held Friday noon, last week.

At the next gathering a constitution and by-laws will be adopted, and officers elected.

The application, seeking a charter in the California state body, was signed by Sundquist, Lloyd Banks, temporary secretary, Lynn Hart, William Iverson, Ernest L. Spencer, W. E. Croddy, Homer C. Chaney, C. E. Sprague, J. L. Buscom, James R. Uhl, George Bradley, H. P. Harrison, C. E. Desory of Santa Ana, Dr. Glenn Curtis, Ted Craig of Brea, Lotus Louden, Anaheim, R. Haster Garden Grove and Albert Launer of Fullerton.

Robert Sprague, of Los Angeles, executive secretary of the California Republican Assembly explained the aims and plans of that body at the last meeting. During the course of his remarks he revealed that 40 counties in the state have organized assemblies and predicted that every county in the state would be organized shortly after the first of the year.

a "weakness" for passing bad checks.

"I cannot explain it," she said. "I am a university graduate and have been a teacher. I do not know why I do those things. I hope I die before my term is up."

Her almost immediate curiosity over the status of the other check cases at the expiration of her sentence, however, indicated there might be a slight reservation in her wish for death.

WOMAN IS SENT TO PRISON FOR PASSING CHECK

Mrs. Edith Davis has a "weakness" for passing worthless checks; she asked Superior Judge James L. Allen to send her to the penitentiary for passing a $20 check at Laguna Beach; and she said: "I hope I die before my term is over"; but—

"Will those other checks be outlawed by the time my sentence is finished," she asked in the next breath.

Judge Allen granted her request, administering a sentence of from one to 14 years in the women's prison at Tehachapi, for the $20 check passed to Lloyd Acord, Laguna Beach business man.

"Those other checks," to which she referred, number about a dozen that were passed elsewhere in Orange County.

Mrs. Davis, who admitted serving a previous prison term in Salt Lake City, Utah, said she had

Semi-Formal Dance Has Colorful Setting in Y. W. Rooms

Christmas trees on a stage which was lighted by many tall red tapers formed a festive background for the holiday dance with which Wyoende Maedgen club entertained Saturday night in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Miss Helen Glancy was general chairman of the event, which was attended by guests including former club members. All in all, there were more than 30 young couples to enjoy the pleasure afforded by the semi-formal dance.

Joy wreaths tied with fluffy colophane bows hung from each window. Festoons of red crepe paper and cottonseed were wreathed about the chandeliers to form an overall decorative effect. Baskets of poinsettias were arranged in the reception hall and in the ballroom as well.

Patronesses were Miss Mary W. Howard, Y. W. secretary, Miss Genevieve Humiston, Wyoende Maedgen advisor, and Miss Dorothy Decker.

Lacy Swaine's orchestra from West Beach provided music for three hours of dancing. Punch was served throughout the evening, with Miss Fern Hill presiding in the dining room, with assistance of the patronesses.

Clever red and silver programs furnished the general decorative theme, and had been made by Miss Glancy, Miss Carolyn Cushing and Miss Katherine Spicer. Others on the committee were Miss Katherine Blank, Miss Rowena Newcomb, Miss Marie Smith, Miss Hattie Bell Wall, Miss Wyllys Anderson and Mrs. William Fritcher.

Mothers and Daughters Bridge Group Holds Pleasant Party

The A. F. Dresser home radiated hospitality Friday night, when Mothers and Daughters Bridge club members assembled there for their annual holiday dinner meeting. This was a general club event, but to Mrs. Dresser was delegated the responsibility, with happy results as members enjoyed the results of her culinary skill.

She was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Kolkhorst of Orange, and by Mrs. Clayton Hutchings, whose duties extended to aid in serving as well as in welcoming guests. Dinner was served to the light of green tapers glowing in crystal chandeliers around a small tree with its Santa Claus, reindeer and other symbols of the season.

Mrs. Dresser had her home fragrant with roses and violets to offset Christmas cheer with holly wreaths and the lighted tree from which gifts were distributed. These were the last attention of the year from "mystery sisters," chosen a year ago to remember birthdays and similar anniversaries. Mrs. Clyde Martin had charge of removing the packages from the tree.

It was not until the last gift had been opened, and the last carol sung, that Mrs. Dresser introduced the dessert course as the finale of a happy evening. In the party were Mrs. Sue Bryant and her daughter, Mrs. Myron Dungan; Mrs. Jay Van Beek, Mrs. Frank Cope, Mrs. Clayton Hutchings and daughter, Mrs. Clyde Martin; Mrs. Charles Ragan, who with no daughter of her own, claims Mrs. Robert Graham, and Mrs. Dresser and her daughter, Mrs. Kolkhorst. In January the Mothers and Daughters will entertain their husbands in the Kolkhorst home.

MERRY CHRISTMAS
A Guitar and a Ten-Lesson Course, at Russell Thompson's Hawaiian Club, 1115 W. Eighth Street, Santa Ana.

Many Guests Welcomed At Bridge Party in Huckfeldt Home

Hosts at a holiday bridge party Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Huckfeldt, 1417 West Ninth street, expressed the prevailing cheerful hospitality and appointments of their home. For in addition to the glow of candles and the softly brilliant lights of the Christmas tree, there were quantities of snowy chrysanthemums, gleaming like stars amidst scarlet poinsettias.

Guests sharing the pleasant evening were Messrs. and Mesdames A. V. Horian, Lee Station, Hugh Station, Larry Newberger, Ned Hayes, Stanley Main and H. Klotzky of this city, Messrs. and Mesdames Alex Chastain and Horace Rucker of Orange.

Of this group, Mrs. Rucker and Mr. Chastain made the evening's high scores in bridge, with Mrs. Chastain and Mr. Hayes as their closest competitors. When the hosts presented each of the four with a Christmas-wrapped prize, she also awarded consolation gifts to Mrs. Lee Station and Mrs. Horian for their low scores.

As the concluding feature of the evening, card tables were arranged with holiday appointments for serving ice cream roll with green Christmas tree centers, tiny angelfood cakes iced in white with scarlet bells, and tea and coffee.

Little Ebell Children May Look Forward To Happy Party

It was a happy inspiration on the part of Junior Ebell members to stake their holiday party for tiny Ebell sons and daughters on Friday afternoon, after Christmas. For those who recall childhood's joys at Christmas, remember also the special delights that attended any festivities after the magic day itself.

So Mrs. Russell Wilson, named weeks ago by the president, Miss Nan Mac, as general party chairman, anticipates wonderful results from her careful planning when she and her co-workers welcome the children at this gay affair from 3 to 5 o'clock. Mrs. Thoburn White, planning games and entertainment suited to the various ages represented by the children, selected among other things, a puppet show. The secured the co-operation of Mrs. Mary Bowyer, who will tell the story as the puppets present it under manipulation of June and Rosemary Biedget.

Mrs. White and her committee, Mrs. H. Raymond Smith and Mrs. Crawford Nalle, have other amusements planned to be climaxed with the distribution of cunning toys from the Christmas tree. Mrs. Chester Horton, chairman, Mrs. Gail Jordan and Mrs. Wendell Finley declare that if the children have half the pleasure receiving these toys, that the three have had wrapping them, the party will be a shining success.

Mrs. George Walker's responsibilities are important, for she and her committee, Mrs. Frederick Elliott and Mrs. Harold Dale, must arrange refreshments—and they have no idea of the number for whom to prepare! It has been suggested that their task would be simplified if as many mothers as possible telephone Mrs. Walker at 1442W, or Mrs. Wilson at 5354W.

Mrs. Wilbur Barr, in charge of decorations for general Ebell's party, plans to have them all in place to add to the enjoyment of the little people and there are such additional pleasures in store as saucy caps for each child. Junior Ebell members are reminding those of the general society that they will be welcome to drop in and watch the children at play during the course of the afternoon.

D. U. V.

Enjoying a gift exchange and other holiday features during their monthly party, members of Sarah A. Rounds tent D. U. V. were guests Friday afternoon in the home of Miss Bertha Belt, Garden Grove.

A blazing fire on the hearth and a decorated Christmas tree added to the holiday background. On the committee in charge were Mesdames Elizabeth Smiley, Leah Hewitt, Cora Graham, Maude Hendrie and the Mesdames Bertha Belt and Adda Cowan.

Christmas songs were sung by Mrs. Graham and Miss Belt, with Miss Carrie Seaton at the piano. Thirty members were present for events of the afternoon, concluded with the serving of mince pie and coffee on trays. Boxes of fruit candy served as favors.

Parent Teachers

Hoover

All grades at Hoover school were represented in a Christmas program put on Thursday evening at a meeting of Hoover P. T. A. in the school auditorium. Miss Isabel Lindsey, principal, was chairman of entertainment, which included interpretations of Christmas celebrations in foreign lands.

Mrs. Allison C. Honer, vice president, conducted a business session. Furthering a movement started by California Congress of Parents and Teachers, members of the association signed cards to be sent to President Roosevelt in expression of appreciation for his attitude on peace.

Wassail and cookies were served by Mrs. J. J. Vernon, refreshment chairman; Mrs. H. J. Howard, president of the association, and Mesdames Allison Honer, E. G. Huffman, W. K. Hillyard, S. M. Reinhaus, J. A. Randall, John Bell.

J. C. Las Meninas Pay Holiday Compliment To Mothers

Gathering in the dim twilight hours in the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Davis, 1615 North Broadway, members and alumnae of Las Meninas of Santa Ana Junior college, yesterday complimented their mothers at an annual Christmas tea.

Miss Barbara Davis of the club membership, joined her mother, Mrs. Davis, Miss Mary Louise Wallace, president, and Miss Betty Lee, secretary, in receiving the guests, who exceeded 75 in number.

Tea was served from the dining table, interesting with its trays of gay Christmas sandwiches and cookies flanking the centerpiece of Santa Claus and his silver reindeer again in the solemn radiance of deep blue tapers. Miss Genevieve Humiston and Miss Dorothy Decker poured tea, and presented each other with a small corsage cluster of holly.

In the living room of the home was a tall tree, amidst whose silver branches, flashed glittering scarlet balls. Music throughout the afternoon was provided by the string trio composed of the Mesdames Audrey Gramas, Beatrice Gramas and Anna May Archer.

Shower and Dinner In One Day Honor Miss Souder

Sunday was a busy day for Miss Ruth Souder, who was honored at an evening dinner shared by members of her bridal party, and in the afternoon was incentive for a pottery shower. The marriage of Miss Souder and Raymond Stober of Long Beach will take place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Christmas Day.

The bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Souder, were hosts at the bridal party dinner, entertaining in their home, 503 South Flower street. Six-course dinner was served at a large table centered with Christmas flowers and lighted with red tapers. Mrs. Souder's sister, Mrs. Antoinette Marshall of Los Angeles, assisted in entertaining.

Christmas Greens Add Charm to Bridge Club Gathering

With just sufficient lights and decorations that its own graceful beauty was enhanced rather than observed, the silver fir tree which twinkles in the Edmund West home, 726 Kilson drive, was center of interest Saturday afternoon when Mrs. West received her bridge club members for their Yuletide meeting.

The fir tree, like the great clusters of holly that formed an additional touch of holiday cheer and color, is an annual gift from Mrs. West's father, J. B. Stephenson of Descanso, formerly of this community.

Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, whose North Broadway home also is garlanded with Christmas greens each year from the J. B. Stephenson, was present to assist her niece in receiving guests, and to preside at the silver urns at the tea hour following bridge. In the afternoon's play, Mrs. J. B. Stephenson Jr. of San Clemente, took high honors and received the club prize.

Mrs. West's guests were Mrs. Raymond Terry, Mrs. Russell Wilson, Miss Boyd Joplin, Miss Mary Safley, Miss Eleanor Crookshank, Mrs. Don Park and Mrs. J. B. Stephenson Jr. of the club membership, and Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson.

Indoor Joys Planned For California's "Outdoor Girl"

Arrival of Miss Barbara Rowland from her studies at Pomona college, was in ample time to help her crowned "California's Outdoor Girl" at the Salinas rodeo, yesterday showed that she is a very poised and gracious young "Indoor Girl" also, and was charming in her formal gown of brown and silver metallic crepe, worn with a great cluster of violets.

Mrs. Rowland was in black crepe with a metal cloth blouse, and Mrs. Wilson (Ninette Rowland) were wine colored chiffon velvet.

During the afternoon, Mrs. C. F. Crose, grandmother of the young honor guest, presided at the silver tea urn, and was charming in a velvet gown, of the rich purple which she so loves, and which is so striking with her silver hair.

Miss Ruth Rowland, Miss Barbara's aunt, succeeded her in this post of honor in the evening hours, and wore blue and silver. This combined well with the tea table decorations, where deep blue tapers twinkled in their silver candlesticks, and shining blue glass balls were heaped on a mirror plateau.

Out of town guests who added their good wishes for Miss Rowland to those of her Santa Ana friends, were Mrs. E. E. Noon and her daughter, Miss Betty Noon of Beverly Hills.

In the party in addition to the hosts and the easterners, were Mrs. Florence Pascoe and son Billy, Mrs. Ernie Renaker and Herbert Welch of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Perkins and son Roger of Villa Park.

Among those who are home from school, and are busier than busy at the present time are Miss Dorothy Proctor, a student at Scripps; Miss Pauline Wells, Stanford University; Miss Florence Liggett, Miss Margaret Munro, Miss Barbara Rowland, Miss Betty Dutton, Pomona.

Girls' Ebell Party

Girls' Ebell members from the very newest addition to the charming circle, to those who have been members ever since the society was organized, have been on the quiver with interest in the dessert party planned by the advisory committee of Ebell society, for Thursday night at 7 o'clock.

This gala affair is to be held in the clubhouse, where the junior clubwomen will be received by Mrs. Fred C. Rowland, Ebell president; Mrs. Emory D. White, chairman of junior membership; Mrs. John A. Teismann and Mrs. C. V. Davis. This hostess quartet is maintaining a tantalizing secrecy in regard to entertainment plans, but there is one party feature that all Girls' Ebell members know all about, and that is the gift exchange, to which each one will contribute a 25-cent present.

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY THE HOME WEDDINGS FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

When it comes to candy making all children run true to form: They love to be turned loose in the kitchen on a stormy day and let do their stuff without a lot of do's and don'ts. Gentle suggestion and a recipe tacked against the wall will do much to make the candy-test a success. The recipe given here is easy to make and always good.

Y. L. I.
Celebrating the thirteenth anniversary of the founding of Capistrano Y.L.I., members of the institute asked Knights of Columbus and their wives to join them Thursday night in a covered dish dinner and program in K. C. hall. Fully 125 guests responded, and enjoyed not only a fine dinner to which the Knights added an immense birthday cake, but also a program of variety with Clyde Ashen as toastmaster. There were musical numbers by a Spanish string trio in advance of the dinner hour, and later in the evening when the players were joined by two charming senioritas for Spanish dances.

Mr. Ashen presented Mrs. William H. Maag, Y.L.I. president, who expressed formal welcome to the guests, and gave a history of the institute. Brief talks were made by Father Thomas Butler, chaplain for the Knights, and by Tom Giesler, grand knight.

The Rec. Father F.A. Wekenman was guest speaker, having come from his present parish in San Diego, to this city where he used to be pastor at St. Joseph Catholic church. His talk was devoted to personal experiences in the Dixie disaster, of which he was one of the heroes, and which he described in exciting detail. Some idea of what the vessel had to face from the elements, was gained when he showed a tiny piece of glass from a porthole, the largest piece left whole that he could find.

Much of the success of the party was attributed to a committee of which Mrs. E. J. Voskuhl was chairman, assisted by Mesdames Philip Teles, Clyde Taylor, Clyde Ashen, Tom Giesler, Charles Borchard, Ruth Lohman and William Maag. They were complimented especially on table decorations, of coteaster sprays sparkling with Christmas tree lights, and many candles

THE TIMMYMATES

Story by HAL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

Old Jack Frost said, "Well, Coppy, you have done all that I wished you to. All of the toys that you've wound have run around just right."

"Now we, I guess, can safely say they'll be just fine on Christmas day. Just think of all the toys that they will fill full of delight."

"Why, sure," said Coppy. "That's why I was glad to come up here and try to help old Santa till he'd straightened out all of his toys."

"I know that they'll spread heaps of cheer, 'cause they have done it every year. It's always fun to do things for the real good girls and boys."

Just then wee Scouty rushed in and he shouted, "Come, lad, lend a hand. We're going to pack kind Santa's sleigh. There's much work to be done."

"We'll load the sleigh way to the top with toys from every little shop. It will not take us long, and it will be a lot of fun."

The other Timmys were outside. "Well, let's get going," Doty cried. "Here comes fat Santa, with the sleigh. Just see the old man grin."

"He knows that, right now, he is set to take a ride, and I'll just bet he'll sail away as soon as all the fine toys are packed in."

"Of course I will," said Santa. "Gee, you've been a lot of help to me. Now, when you start, be sure that everything is safely packed."

"Some of the dolls will break with ease, so all of you be careful, please. I wouldn't want some girl to get a doll whose face is cracked."

As Jack Frost took the sleigh around, fine gifts were packed in safe and sound. Brave Coppy shouted, "Leave a place for Santa Claus to sit."

"Oh, don't mind me," of Santa cried. "There's nothing that will spoil my ride. Why, even if I have to stand, I will not mind a bit!"

Fiesta Will Be Held In Mission City

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Dec. 23.—Plans for the fiesta to be held next Saturday under auspices of the local chapter of the Rivera of America association were given a final check at noon today when members of the organization held a business meeting in the Hotel Capistrano cafe.

Tony Nydegger, president of the chapter, presided during the meeting and received reports on the Christmas tree committee and committees on membership and entertainment. He announced following the meeting that invitations are being sent scores of prominent Southern California men to attend the fiesta banquet next Saturday night.

The banquet will be served at 7 p.m. and later in the evening the Spanish dancers will entertain in the street. An attempt is being made at present to obtain this colorful troupe to entertain during the afternoon while motion picture news reels are made.

The program opened with "Patronale," organ, Mrs. Margaret Day Rogers; "Lamb of God, the Heavens Adore Thee," women's voices; "The Annunciation," chorus; "Holy Night," soprano solo, Mrs. Irvine German; "Come, Thou Long Expected Jesus," chorus; "No Room in the Inn," solo, Mrs. Irvine German; "There is Room in My Heart," chorus; "Hark, What Means Those Holy Voices?" alto solo, Miss Frances drag, "The Wise Men and the Shepherds," chorus; "Praise the King of Peace," chorus.

Sunday morning, the Rev. Grover Ralston, pastor, spoke on "A King that Could Not Rule the King." The anthem was by the vested choir.

THE ERA IS PAST, BUT THE LAW REMAINS

New trial rights have been denied Miss Edith Maxwell, 21-year-old Wise, Va., school teacher who stands sentenced to the Virginia state penitentiary for 25 years for slaying her father several weeks ago. A hill billy jury decreed that future as just punishment. It is the same as would be handed down to one who purposely killed to gain some selfish motive—like the gangster or the robber. There seems little hope today that the convicted teacher will be able to escape that which her father's neighbors have decreed she must have. Efforts on the part of several women's organizations over the country so far failed to upset the hill billy version.

The verdict is another case of the severity of law in the hands of men not versed on its points and not broadened to the involved circumstances. And it is another case of attempted imposition of the unwritten laws of foreign lands in a land of the free. Edith's father, according to all versions of the case, was a hill billy who believed to the letter the hill billy law that man rules over woman; that he can even inflict physical punishment upon her if he so desires without fear of anything, and that he alone shall set the rules by which her life is to be led. We of Orange county and all California, in fact, do not realize it all, yet such "laws," man-made as they are exist in Kentucky and the mountain region of southern and southwestern Virginia, where Wise is located.

Miss Maxwell had been beaten several times. She had been threatened, we are told. Her brothers and sisters had run away from it all, but Edith stayed on and kept a home for the father whose word was almighty on his premises. She was out to a dance on the night of the killing. Her father had taken her bed clothing to his room to be sure he would know when she came in. There was a scuffle as the father announced his intention of beating his daughter. Frightened as any girl would be, Miss Maxwell grabbed a slipper and attempted to beat off her father's wrath. The father fell—dead.

When the case came to trial the jury was composed of 12 hill billy men who believed as did the father—that man controls woman. They branded the accident as outright and intended murder, not realizing that a slipper is not an instrument of death. Had Miss Maxwell gone to her home in the expectation of killing her father, or had she intended to kill him after her arrival she would have seized a stove poker, a brick or some other missile—not a slipper. The whole case is additional food for thought that the 12-man jury should not be the final word of one's guilt or innocence. Three judges, broadened to the world and educated to the civilized belief that man does not rule woman and that a father is not his daughter's dictator, and willing to admit that a slipper was not an instrument of death, probably would have freed the girl and thus served a warning to others that America is not the place for foreign rules.

The whole affair serves as a reminder that America's first thought in missionary work should be in America. Until the hill billy idea that a woman is man's slave and must bow down to his commands after maturity is abolished in American communities, and until those people are educated to the laws and the ways of American living, there is no room for work across the seas. No one argues against the reverence that should be shown a father by his daughter, but few can agree that she should be man-handled and beaten and be made to suffer physical pain for nothing more than going to a dance, without striking back.

ENCOURAGEMENT FOR CRIME

Our own idea of crime prevention is entirely different from that of the judge who gave a life term instead of the chair to Drake, the Los Angeles youth who murdered his uncle and aunt with poisoned coffee and hurled their bodies into the Pacific ocean.

If Drake were not entitled to the chair, we cannot imagine who could be. Drake claimed he had done the deed to prevent his uncle and aunt from worrying about an automobile theft he had committed. He claimed he really was kind to them.

Anyone with such an egotistic "slant" on his own final authority as to right and wrong, is of no value to the rest of society. The electric chair is not a revenge mechanism but a protection to society against repetition of such heinous crimes. Too, society should not be obliged to feed, clothe and shelter such criminally-minded members, for what such members consume, some worthy person must do without.

HOW TO THANK FINLAND

On Dec. 15, Uncle Sam was supposed to get several million dollars from various European debtors. He got nothing at all—except $230,458 from little Finland, which paid right on the nail, as usual, while rich England, France, and the others sent regrets.

A recent Washington dispatch remarks that some State Department officials have been wondering if part of these Finnish payments might not be set aside for a scholarship fund, for the education of Finnish students in American universities; and the idea has a good deal to recommend it.

It would strengthen the bond of friendship and understanding between the two nations—and it would be a tangible way of showing how this country appreciates the presence of one good debtor among a flock of deadbeats.

HUMAN INDEX OF PROGRESS

The tragic way in which business failures and suicides go hand in hand is shown in statistics compiled by Prof. William F. Ogburn of the University of Chicago.

Prof. Ogburn has records dating back to 1915, and these show that whenever hard times come and business failures increase, the number of suicides goes up accordingly. When prosperity returns and failures are fewer, suicides also diminish.

It would be hard to think of a set of statistics which could show so clearly the pitiful human cost of depressions. The encouraging thing is that Prof. Ogburn's figures show that the worst is over, as far as this depression is concerned.

The decline in business failures since 1933 has been the sharpest ever recorded in his 20-year period, and the same is true of suicides. According to that gauge, we must be moving forward to better times.

RELIEF HEADED FOR A SNAG

The Federal Government's present work relief program is expected to end next July. Few people can doubt that some sort of relief will be vitally necessary after that.

Because the Federal Government's plan is still uncertain, private agencies are finding it impossible to make intelligent plans for their own future activities.

So says Robert P. Lane, executive director of the New York Welfare Council. He points out that no private agency can tell just what its share of the relief load will be next year, and that consequently proper organization and financing are impossible.

What is urgently needed is a comprehensive, long-range statement of the Federal relief program. Until such a program is agreed on, the private agencies are put under a handicap they should not be required to carry.

Day By Day In Washington

(Copyright, 1935)
By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Senator Borah may well become the strongest factor in the influencing of the next presidential convention.

The Idaho senator's decision to enter the presidential preference primaries in Wisconsin is really the most important event in the national political situation for many a day. It marks the beginning of a genuine fight to liberalize the Republican party. And regardless of whether one agrees with Mr. Borah's own views on public questions, the fact remains that, single-handed, he has undertaken to make the Republican party a better instrumentality, if possible, for the use of progressive-minded voters who are dissatisfied with the Roosevelt regime.

To date, all the news from the Republican quarters, with the exception of the "grass roots" convention earlier this year, has emanated from the so-called regulars, who are, of course, in possession of the machinery of the party. In every political battle, organization is important and there are evidences that the organizing is being done earlier than is customary in a presidential campaign and with a great deal more efficiency.

Usually, a national campaign waits on the conventions. One national chairman is picked after the conventions, when the nominee makes known his wishes. When, as is the case with Mr. Roosevelt and as was the case with Mr. Wilson, the renomination is assured, there is an opportunity for the party in power to select its campaign manager and begin intensive work long before the conventions.

It is this circumstance which has forced the Republican organization to get to work early. But the campaign against Mr. Roosevelt thus far has been largely of a negative character and there has been little disposition to discuss a constructive platform. Senator Borah senses this weakness and is trying to crystallize sentiment in the country behind what he calls a liberal platform and a liberal candidate.

While it will naturally be suspected that Mr. Borah wants to get as many delegates for himself as possible, it is not a conclusive inference by any means that he is primarily interested in his own candidacy. Senator Borah feels that the New Deal, although doing some useful things, has committed some grave errors in public policy which are by no means outweighed by the good things in its program. Hence, he is out in front now to see that the principles he believes in are made a part of the Republican platform.

While some of the regular Republicans, who have never had much fondness for Mr. Borah, may not like his aggressive initiative, they will probably learn some day that he has been of great service to the Republican party, at least by attempting to give it a progressive color at a time when the mood of the country has swung considerably away from stand-pattism.

The danger in the Republican strategy today is that the widespread criticism of the New Deal and such things as the Literary Digest poll, showing much anti-New Deal sentiment, will develop the impression that an American conservatism of the old-fashioned type has arisen. No greater mistake could be made by the Republican leadership than to assume the pendulum swings from extreme radicalism to extreme conservatism in a short time. The year 1936 will see a good many voters anxious to have New Deal objectives fulfilled, however they may feel about the inefficiency of the Roosevelt administration in attempting to fulfill its own objectives.

Mr. Borah is a good campaigner. If Governor Landon stays out of the primaries and does not become an active candidate—a policy his friends have been urging upon him—then Mr. Borah may actually demonstrate in primary elections that he has vote-getting capacity. His speeches will, in a sense, express his ideas of what the platform should be. If the Republicans in a number of states cast their ballots for Mr. Borah, it will be a sign that progressivism has a strong hold on the country. There has been a feeling hereabouts that Mr. Hoover would be found opposing Mr. Borah in public debate. Certainly, Mr. Hoover is not anxious to be classed as a conservative, however his critics may desire to put him in that category.

The Democrats would like to see a rift between conservative and progressive forces in the Republican party because it will enable them to taunt their opponents. But even this exposure to enemy bombardment is relatively less important to the Republicans than the crystallization of sentiment for a truly liberal platform that will justify votes, who believe in the underlying objectives of the New Deal, in reaching the conclusion that reform and recovery can both be attained within the constitution and without the enormous expenditure of public funds.

More Truth Than Poetry

MORE AS PLENTY
I worry night and morning
About those Dionne "Quints."
They reappear
Year after year
In all the public prints.
I feel as if I knew them
Or they were my own kin,
And then I smile
A happy smile
And grin a grateful grin.

Imagine five small persons
Which you would have to rear,
That came one night
Upon a flight
From nowhere into here.
Just think of bills for groceries
And nightgowns and new shoes!
No jolt like that,
I'll bet my hat,
Could make a man enthuse.

These babes, I'm told, are perfect—
They have no fleck or flaw,
And men come miles
To view their smiles
And gaze on them with awe.
And so I feel extremely Contented and benign,
And also glad
I never had Five kids like that for mine.

ALWAYS ON THE MOVE
When crafty Japs more land desire
Their elder statesmen have a chat.
And what they think they may require
They go out and take, and that is that.

IT WAS DIFFERENT THEN

WASHINGTON — The American Federation of Labor rendered an unusual service the other day but the controversy is so thick and heavy these days that it is doubtful if anybody paid any attention to what the Federation said. It is important, though, because it dealt with a matter which has largely governed our thinking the past two and a half years. It was the Federation's return to the statistical business. For many years we had been accustomed to the Federation's appearing periodically with the statement of how many unemployed there were in the country. Then the service reappeared the other day and, added to the statement of the number of unemployed, it said in a sort of "By the way" fashion, that it was 2,000,000 who were unemployed back there at the height of prosperity.

You can't tell how much influence this would have on the New Deal economists if it could be made to register on them. They've always insisted it was 4,000,000. Just where they got their information from or where the Federation found it was only 2,000,000 goodness only knows.

That 4,000,000 figure has done us a lot of harm, though. It has been the main support of the New Dealers in their determination to reform us and to give us some sort of a New State, a Third Economy as Rex Tugwell calls it, or something of the sort. Every time we would plead with them to, for heaven's sake cut out their money shines and let the depression's 10,000,000 or 12,000,000 be reemployed, they would look at us and dreamily say "Aw, but it's no use. What you don't realize, my good friend, is that we would still have 4,000,000 unemployed. Why, there were 4,000,000 unemployed at the height of prosperity." It seemed to be their determination not to let the 10,000,000 be reemployed until they could arrange for the reemployment of the 4,000,000. Presumably, the New Dealers are all union men and believe in seniority. And inasmuch as the 4,000,000 had been out of work long enough they were determined the 10,000,000 had to remain unemployed until the 4,000,000 were first taken care of.

Remember how we used to argue that why not let the 10,000,000 go ahead and be reemployed and then we would see what about the 4,000,000? Don't you remember? But we could get nowhere. Nope, it was no use, they insisted. We had to have an entire New Order. Mr. Roosevelt used to have some charts and graphs at the White House and when the newspapermen would go up he would give them a long lecture on how the lines of these charts and graphs had to parallel before he would call it a recovery. I've often thought one of the reasons the newspapermen liked Mr. Roosevelt so much was the way he entertained us with those charts and graphs. They were fascinating, had some of the prettiest lines on them you ever saw. Dr. Tugwell insists this is the Third Economy we are in but in my ignorant way I'll always believe it is the chart and graph age.

But now that the Federation says it was only 2,000,000 unemployed back there at the height of prosperity instead of 4,000,000 maybe we can get the New Deal economists to relent. Maybe we can effect a compromise, anyway. Maybe, they'll be willing to let half of the current 10,000,000 be reemployed inasmuch as it was only half as bad during prosperity as they said.

I know of no way to shield the odd child from the suffering his oddity brings upon him. We are so constituted that anything that marks us as different because of a physical or mental failure, even in the slightest degree, gives us secret pain. Only those who have known this ache in the heart can have any notion of its poignancy. The odd child suffers. He feels like the Ugly Duckling who was molested and hid himself among the friendly bushes on a lonely shore. Lucky for him if his difference becomes a glory, a miracle indeed.

How can we help this odd one? One thing we must accept squarely. It is impossible to hide his deficiency from him. If he is lame, or suffering from a sense defect, or cannot learn to read, or is actually mentally defective, he feels his lack acutely and suffers keenly. To escape he would have to be unconscious. It is useless to try to gloss over his trouble, pat him kindly and say: "Cheer up. You're all right." He isn't all right. The only time he will be able to cheer up a little is when he feels some degree of success coming to him in his efforts to master his handicap.

When you deal with such a child the first thing to do is to have him examined by an approved authority, a specialist, who understands the child's peculiar difficulties. If it is possible to train the child to master his defect the specialist will outline treatment, and supervise it. If it is not possible then he will tell you so, and you will not nag the child in an effort to compel him to do the impossible. If the hearing defect is permanent then the child must be trained as a deaf child. Permanent defects must be accepted and the child trained in such a fashion as to enable him to live as happily as possible under the circumstances. It is cruel to try to force such children to do the same work, accomplish the same ends as their more fortunate mates.

The situation for such children, the permanently handicapped ones, is not hopeless. There are so many phases of their lives that are still normal and waiting to be developed. There is a world of possibility in the fact that we have two sides to our brains, two eyes, two ears, two hands, two legs. If one side is counted out there is always hope of the other's coming to the rescue. The specialist knows and can help.

Children who accept their difficulties and are strong in spite of them, win the admiration of their mates. It is only the helpless weakling that they peck and chase. Accept the trouble, face it squarely; never hide it, and you will help the handicapped child.
